Expand membership and reduce expenses by incorporating cash dispensing kiosks into your operations. These cost-efficient units may be placed inside your lobby, branches or even at SEG locations to maintain a continuous credit union presence. With no associated network fees, these units provide members information and cash access while attracting non-member recruitment.

To get started, all that’s required is a small office footprint and an available broadband internet connection.

Benefits

Cost Effective

These self-service kiosks can provide remote members with round-the-clock account and cash access at a minimal cost. All transactions bypass standard card network interchange fees.

Efficient

An attractive and friendly touch-screen user interface increases throughput, speeds member processing, and reduces the need for front office personnel.

Marketing

The implementation of member self-service kiosks can significantly cut cost, drive transaction traffic, increase member loyalty, and attract new potential accounts.
